Dear Parents and Friends,

The wet weather has interrupted our training for the athletics carnival and the track is looking very wet. With the rain predicted to last for the rest of the week, the grounds may well be too wet for our Tyalgum PS Athletics Carnival to take place on Thursday week. Should the weather be fine, and the ground not too boggy the event will go ahead on 21st June as planned. In the event of continued inclement weather, however, we will have a normal school day and hold our carnival on the first suitable day after that. We are hoping that the fine days will return so that we can enjoy the last days of term, and not have our plans washed out as they were at the end of Term 1!

Parents and Carers are reminded that student absences from school need to be explained promptly. It is a requirement of the Department of Education that all children in NSW schools are accounted for at all times. School records are regularly inspected and penalties can be applied. We happily accept notes, emails, phone calls or personal contact!
